In the distance, if one looked closely enough, the 18-story office building, "The Towers", in Campbell's fast developing PruneYard, could be discerned. (We took the precaution of superimposing an arrow on the photo to mark the location.)

Although our photographic equipment was limited (a polaroid doesn't have the depth necessary to do a top job in such a situation), still the photo did show possibilities.

We have hopes that Fire Chief George Maxwell might give it a whirl with a camera with a telephoto lens.

After all, how many towers are there in our burg?

Or how many structures have more than two stories in town?

You can count 'em on one hand. And have three fingers left over.

SPEAKING OF TOWERS, we noted that in a newspaper ad (not The Campbell Press) announcing the opening of "The Prune Pit" in the "Wrinkled Prune Annex", an arrow indicated that Campbell's newest bistro, a beer and wine cellar with entertainment, was located in "The Towers" at the PruneYard.

"The Wrinkled Prune Annex" is the old Sunsweet building located on Central Ave. just off Campbell Ave. in "downtown Campbell".

It is being developed by Stan Becker and it opened on schedule despite some problems Becker had with the city.

Becker's project has no connection with the multi-million dollar complex that is fast taking shape, including "The Towers", at Bascom and Campbell avenues.

Apparently the idea of the ad was to use "The Towers" merely as a landmark and to identify the location of the "Prune Pit" with an arrow.

Only in the ad we were talking about, the arrow was put in the wrong place.

For the record, the ad that appeared in The Press had the arrow in the right spot.

COLD WEATHER AT this time of year should not be totally unexpected. After all it is winter time, even in the Santa Clara Valley.

So when the thermometer drops to the "30's" and below, it may be somewhat uncomfortable but not too unusual.

Unless, of course, one happened to be working at The Campbell Press on the coldest day of the season, which was a week ago last Monday.

Our joint was so cold that we all took turns going outdoors to warm up!

When Court, who was working in the back shop Sunday afternoon, got ready to leave, he inadvertently pulled the master switch which not only shut off the lights but everything else in the place, including the furnace.

Monday morning dawned chilly and bleak.

Everywhere.

But especially at The Campbell Press.

So that's the way we all started the new year...shivering and shaking.

It wasn't until afternoon that it warmed up enough to remove our coats.

To compound matters even further, the IBM selectomatic became temperamental. It didn't start rolling until later afternoon.

And the flu bug nipped a couple of the staff.

All in all it wasn't the most desirable way to start 1970.

Yet we all felt fortunate and relieved that the paper managed to make its appear-

GETTING THE LOWDOWN---At Monday's Council meeting, two councilmen (Mayor Homer Hyde, left, and Vice-Mayor Dean Chamberlin) with City Manager Bob Stephens, right, look over the original plans for the "Wrinkled Prune Annex" and "Prune Pit" submitted by Stan Becker which had been approved by the Planning Commission in October, 1969.

PARTICIPANTS---Stan Becker (left), Fire Marshal Gene Borden and Wally Byron (right), city building official, all took part in a lengthy discussion Monday night concerning the problems involved in the opening of the "Prune Pit" in the converted Sunsweet warehouse at 30 Central Ave., just off Campbell Ave. in "downtown" Campbell.

City Council acts

'Prune Pit' must meet city rules

Campbell's newest entertainment center, the "Prune Pit"'located in the former Sunsweet Warehouse at 30 S. Central Ave. (just off Campbell Ave.) which opened last week, must meet the city building requirements, if it is to continue to operate.

And the owner of the operation, Stanley Becker, indicated at the City Council meeting Monday night that he intended to meet the city conditions relative to safety and other requirements.

Should Becker fail to comply with the city regulations, City Attorney Joe Bonacina was directed by the City Council Monday night to take legal action against Becker.

The action by the Council came after a lengthy presentation by three city department heads, who have been involved in the problems confronting Becker in his efforts to convert the three-story warehouse into an attractive beer and wine cellar with entertainment.

City officials have maintained that Becker's proposed plans for the entire "Wrinkled Prune Annex" of which the "Prune Pit" is the first phase, could be an asset to the ci. They commended him also for the type of operation he has conducted since his opening last week.

However, they emphasize that the converted warehouse must satisfy all safety requirements and other conditions levied by the city or it should not be allowed to remain open.

At the meeting Monday, Fire Chief George Maxwell and Fire Marshal Gene Borden listed the violations that had to be corrected. They also said that Becker had complied with many of the necessary safety requirements before his opening night.

Art Kee, planning director, said that his office had not approved the application for a building permit mainly because it did not meet the parking requirements as indicated in the plans which had been approved by the Planning Commission.

Wally Byron, city building official, pointed out that his office had not issued a building permit for the remodeling and that, if and when the permit was issued, it would be necessary for a licensed contractor to approve the electrical wiring that had been installed.

All three of the department heads emphasized that they had tried to cooperate with Becker but they felt that the city's interest had to be protected.

Becker, who was present at the meeting, admitted to the councilmen that he may have done things the wrong way but that he thought the city was also being unfair in some instances.

He claimed that it was ignorance mainly on his part plus his impatient nature to get things done which had created many of his problems.

He said he was certain that the matter could be resolved, if he could have time to com-

GOING AND COMING--JOE CUFFARO (left) has been named to replace JIM O'BRIEN (right) as a director of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. O'Brien, assistant manager of the Hamilton branch of the Bank of America for the past 18 months, has been promoted to manager of the El Camino-Grant branch of the BofA in Mountain View, his native city. O'Brien, a University of Santa Clara grad, is a member of the Kiwanis Club, was a member of the CofC for the past year.

Cuffaro, a native of San Jose, attended San Jose State and has been an active member of the CofC for the past three years during the time he was manager of Walker Paint Co., in the Campbell Shopping Center. He has resigned from Walker Paint and plans to open the Winchester Paint & Wallpaper in the building on Winchester formerly occupied by Wheel-Away Bicycle Shop. Cuffaro is married and has four children, the oldest now attending San Jose City College.

Campbell police catch alleged "cat burglar"

Alertness of two Campbell police officers, Dan Ramseier and James Stoner, early Monday morning, resulted in the arrest of "cat burglar" Gene Rollins, 29, of Oakland, who was charged with committing at least five burglaries in the Lenor Way, Central Ave. area within the space of a few hours.

While responding to a call in the area, the police officers spotted an unfamiliar 1967 green Chevrolet with the engine still warm and the driver's door ajar. Being acquainted with all of the cars in the area, the officers waited until Rollins reappeared. After being searched by the officers it was ascertained that his boots matched footprints of a burglary just committed at 843 N. Central Ave., and nearly $200 in coin and currency was found stuffed in his pockets. A screwdriver, gloves and flashlight were also found on the floor of the car which had not been there when the officers had checked the car prior to Rollins's return.

Campbell police were also able to recover a large amount of stolen goods and close the books on over 20 cases of residential burglaries which occurred over the Christmas holidays after a 14-year-old boy implicated two other teen-age boys, one of whom was on leave from the Boy's Ranch. Goods and money valued at $1745 has been recovered to date.

However, a new crime wave has hit Campbell businesses with checks and check protectors being taken from at least three businesses. In addition, the Sure Electric Co., 1161 Dell Ave., lost all of their copper electrical wire with a total value of $3,487.60.

A thief was apparently surprised during the early morning hours Sunday as he attempted to "peel" the safe at Bonanza Steak House, 301 E. Hamilton Ave. Entry had been made through the back door and

WE GOOFED!

Apparently the news release of the Department of Motor Vehicles specifying that the Wells Fargo Bank in Campbell was a "renewal" office for motor vehicle registration was misread by The Press.

A brief item in last week's issue reported that the local bank was an agent. Wells Fargo in Cupertino is, but not the Campbell branch.

Sorry.

High school buses get new district 'home'

Campbell High School District buses are no longer seen pulling out on Winchester Ave. on an assembly line basis as the district schools let out.

During the Christmas vacation all of the buses were transferred from the Latimer Ave. bus "depot" to the new bus headquarters located at the Camden High School, Camden and Union Ave.

According to Dean Chamberlin, Campbell High School District transportation director, the move is in keeping with the consolidation now going on in the district which will see the new district office complex, warehouse and bus headquarters all located in the one area. Maintenance facilities for the buses will also be located at the Camden High School.

The warehouse is almost completed and it and the district offices are expected to be occupied during the summer months.

At present the district business office has been operating out of the old Nelson Hardware Store, 275 E. Campbell Ave., and the district administration business is being conducted from offices located on the Del Mar High School grounds.

No plans have yet been made for other usages of the Nelson property or the former bus shed area.

Building permits in Campbell show $1 million decrease in 1969

Building permits issued by the City of Campbell in 1969 were down by more than $1 million from the previous year, according to Wally Byron, city building official, although permits issued for commercial structures in 1969 topped 1968 by $2,670,000.

For the 12-month period ending Dec. 31, 1969, the valuation of all permits issued totalled $5,427,484 compared to $6,424,017 in 1968.

There were 23 permits issued for commercial buildings in 1969, featuring two phases of the "PruneYard" and the 18-story "Towers" which accounted for $3,526,107 in valuation and more than one-half of the total for all permits. There were nine commercial permits issued in 1968 for $856,676.

But it was in the residential building category where there was the biggest decrease in permit valuation.

During all of 1969, only four single family dwelling permits were issued for a total of $77,918.

In 1968, there were 113 single family dwelling permits taken out for $2,427,084, a drop of $2,349,166!

And it wasn't much better in the duplex and multiple department.

During 1969 there were 14 building permits issued for duplexes and multiples for $604,473 while in 1968 there were 42 such permits for $1,750,530, a drop of $1,146,057 in valuation.

The decrease was not so great for industrial building permits. In 1969 there were nine such permits issued for $856,676 while in 1968 there were 13 for $829,227.

On the bright side, there were more permits issued for swimming pools in 1969 than

For the library

City Council approval was given Monday night for the purchase of three of the seven parcels needed for the library site between Central and Harrison totalling $67,200.

Felix Castellanos, the city's acquisition agent, had submitted the agreements signed by the three property owners: Lou Colla, $27,000; Merle Cook, $21,500 and Jewel Pritchard, $18,700.

The four other parcels needed are owned by Henry Grattan (2); Jozefa Teixiera and Ray Stroppa.

In a related matter, the Council also approved a soil test as recommended by Bill Hedley, architect, to be made for the property on which the civic center will be constructed.

Because of increased prices?

Third quarter retail sales in Campbell in 1969 show big gain over 1968

Total taxable retail sales in Campbell for the third quarter in 1969 increased over the same period in 1968 by $1,377,000, according to the latest report issued by the State Board of Equalization.

Campbell's total sales for the three-month period ending Sept. 30 came to $14,720,000 compared to $13,343,000 in 1968.

According to the analysis made throughout the state by the Board of Equalization, Californians bought less but paid more for it during the July-September period to account for the record-breaking sales which showed a gain of 7% throughout the state.

Campbell's sales were up 10% while the entire county showed an increase of 8%.

Campbell ranked seventh among the 15 cities in the county in total sales. Los Gatos was in sixth place.

Taxable sales in Los Gatos for the three-month period this year were $15,255,000 compared to $13,568,000 for the third quarter in 1968.

AUTO SALES

As usual, automobile sales in Los Gatos accounted for almost one-half of the total sales in that city. During the third quarter, "auto dealers and auto supplies" in Los Gatos amounted to $7,487,000.

That category in Campbell, on the other hand, accounted for only $156,000 of Campbell's total of $14,720,000.

Of the top 10 cities in the county listed in the board's report, Campbell was at the bottom in the "auto dealers" listing.

Los Altos, next to Campbell, showed $1,129,000; Cupertino had $1,263,000 and Gilroy had $2,197,000.

BUILDING MATERIAL

Campbell's main claim to fame in the sales derby was in the "building material" division.

That category accounted for $3,302,000 of the total sales in this city for the third quarter in 1969, up $107,000 from the same period in 1968. Campbell, for example, exceeded Los Gatos in this category for the period by $2,924,000!

SECOND IN COUNTY

The report shows that Campbell ranked second (behind San Jose) in building material sales, topping Santa Clara, Sunnyvale, Mountain View and Palo Alto in that department.

The next biggest contributor to the total sales picture in Campbell was in the "home furnishings and appliance" division.

During the third quarter of 1969, "home furnishings" made up $2,428,000 of the total, down slightly from the same period in 1968 when the figure was $2,497,000.

THIRD PLACE

And Campbell was in third place among the cities in the county in the home furnishings field. Only San Jose and Santa Clara topped this community. (Los Gatos, for example, only showed $388,000, also down slightly from the year before.)

Another big item in Campbell was "food stores", although sales of food are tax-exempt.

During the third quarter in Campbell the 19 "food stores" accounted for $1,273,000 of the total sales, up slightly ($118,000) from the year before.

Los Gatos lists 27 "food stores" doing $1,304,000.

GAS STATIONS

But Campbell "beat" Los Gatos in "service stations" (gasoline exempt). The 47 service stations in Campbell had $305,000 in total sales (45 stations the previous year did $306,000).

In Los Gatos, 24 stations this year did $171,000, down also from the previous year when 25 did $175,000.

In Campbell during the third quarter, 10 "drug stores" (prescriptions exempt) did $304,000, compared to the 10 doing $268,000 the year before.

In Los Gatos, 10 "drug stores" accounted for $439,000 in 1969 compared to doing $397,000 in the previous year.

In Campbell, nine packaged liquor stores accounted for $431,000 in 1969 in taxable sales compared to eight in 1968 doing $367,000.

EATING PLACES

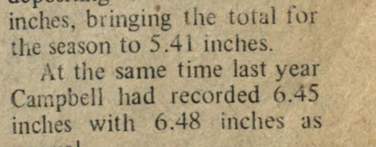
The report lists 52 "eating and drinking places" in Campbell accounting for $1,113,000 in total taxable sales. (In 1968 there were 50 such places doing $1,087,000.)

In Los Gatos in the third period in 1969, the 50 "eating and drinking places" showed $1,360,000 in taxable sales, down slightly from the year before when 45 such places did $1,401,000.

The report revealed that taxable retail sales outside the cities accounted for $22,442,000 for the third quarter in 1969, ranking behind the five largest cities.

The listing in total sales: San Jose, $208,978,000; Santa Clara, $60,905,000; Palo Alto, $52,572,000; Mountain View, $43,827,000; Sunnyvale, $40,322,000; Los Gatos, $15,255,000; Campbell, $14,720,000; Los Altos, $9,156,000; Cupertino, $8,693,000; Gilroy, $7,255,000; Milpitas, $6,426,000; Morgan Hill, $3,531,000; Saratoga, $2,878,000; Los Altos Hills, $393,000; Monte Sereno, $9,000.

At the end of the three quarters in 1969, the total sales in Campbell had reached $42,657,000 compared to $37,299,000 in the same period in 1968.



Rain began falling Jan. 8, depositing a total of 1.76 inches, bringing the total for the season to 5.41 inches.

At the same time last year Campbell had recorded 6.45 inches with 6.48 inches as normal.

Achievements for '70

For the past four years, The Campbell Press has published a "progress edition", appearing shortly after the start of the new year.

Last year, you may recall, the "progress edition" was tied in with the 75th anniversary of The Campbell Press.

There will be another "progress edition" this year but, obviously, the diamond jubilee theme cannot be used.

This year's theme will have a new emphasis.

We are not forgetting the historical background of the paper and community but, at the same time, we plan to emphasize the present. In other words, what has been achieved in and by this community.

The theme selected for this year's special edition is the phrase, "1970, the year of achievement".

This year's special issue is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 25.

We hope to pinpoint in that special edition the objectives that have been reached by this community.

Granted that there have been detours and delays during the past few years in the movement toward the goals that have been set, the fact remains that during 1970 many of the objectives will have been reached.

So, 1970 will be a year of achievement.

Take as an example, the development of Campbell's "PruneYard" dominated by "The Towers", the 18-story office building, the highest structure between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

By the end of 1970, the "PruneYard" and "The Towers" will be bustling with activity.

Already three theaters in the "PruneYard" are operating and in a comparatively few weeks the first tenants will be housed in "The Towers".

In a relatively few weeks also, construction will start on a new branch of the Bank of America in the same center.

It does not take very much imagination to project the action that will be generated in that one spot in Campbell within the next 12 months.

But that is only one part of the Campbell picture for 1970, the year of achievement.

Within a few months, for example, the new city hall will be under construction. The land for the civic center has been acquired for some time and the final plans for the building are being drafted.

So before 1970 is over, the City of Campbell will have a new city hall.

Another achievement.

The new library is expected to be under way shortly after the city hall. Thus, before the end of this year, the so-called "downtown Campbell" will be completely changed.

Another achievement.

But those are only two phases of the development of Campbell.

There are continuous improvements and expansions taking place in the industrial section of the city.

Many of them go unnoticed. But, nevertheless, they play a big part in the overall development of the community as a whole.

Improvements are also being made in the various shopping centers that make up the business community of Campbell.

In a very short time, for example, Kirkwood Plaza Shopping Center, at San Tomas Road and Campbell Ave., will have a complete auto care center, making that particular shopping center one of the most complete in the entire Valley.

And there will be many other developments during the year that will be both exciting and dramatic.

We maintain that the foundation has been laid, the groundwork has been completed.

In the past we have reviewed and reported many of the projects that were on the drawing board.

We have emphasized that this community was moving forward.

In the progress edition of 1970, we hope to point out what has already been achieved in this community and the objectives that will be reached before the year is over.

What we are saying in effect is that the emphasis in this year's special issue will not be so much on what has gone on before but on what has already been achieved. And what we are achieving.

We maintain that the special edition this year will offer an excellent opportunity for civic groups, business firms, the Chamber of Commerce and the city administration to report their current activities.

We sincerely hope that the business firms and the various civic organizations will cooperate with us in making the 1970 progress edition of The Campbell Press the most outstanding one of all.

Truly, we sincerely believe, that 1970 will be the year of achievement for this community.

We hope you will be as enthusiastic as we are about the forthcoming Feb. 25 issue of The Campbell Press.

"1970, the year of achievement."

ance on schedule.

But it was sort of touch and go for a while.

There was one bright spot to look forward to for the next 51 issues.

Conditions couldn't be much worse.

And, if you thought there were more slurred words than usual in that first issue of the new year, think nothing of it.

Have YOU ever tried typing with your gloves on?

THAT CONTROLLED burn, conducted by the Campbell Fire Department, on Kennedy Ave. last week probably caused some red faces among the fire department personnel which could not be attributed to the hot blaze.

And it probably attracted more attention than any one of the hundreds of similar combined training-demolition projects conducted by the department in the past.

It wasn't the heat.

It was the timing.

On Jan. 1, 1970, under the edict issued by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, all backyard burning (except barbecues) were banned.

Although the ban is one of the means that has been instituted to help the smog situation, there are a number of residents who are unhappy with the demise of their backyard incinerators.

So you can imagine what happened on Jan. 6, five days after the ban had gone into effect, when people observed the billowing clouds of black smoke pouring upward on Kennedy Ave. near the railroad tracks.

The fire department phones jingled and jangled all day, as irate residents demanded to know if they couldn't burn, why could the fire department.

Naturally The Press got its share of calls also.

There seemed to be no difference in the smoke from that of ordinary backyard burning, the people claimed.

The fire department has to get permission from the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District for these control burns just as orchardists must do.

And the burns can only take place when atmospheric conditions are right, which was the case, apparently, last week.

These control burns serve two purposes, as you know: Removal of condemned buildings and excellent training for firemen.

But that first such burn of 1970 took a lot of explaining.

When the next one will take place is something else again.

AS WE HAVE TOLD YOU so many times, with a name like VIERHUS, we expect to have people mispronounce it and misspell it.

We sorta have to live with it, although, personally, we have never really had any trouble with it.

Anyway, there are darn few ways that the name SMITH, for example, can be mispronounced or misspelled.

Or Brown; or Jones.

Now the name Stephens, as a f'instance, (e.g., Bob Stephens, Campbell city manager) really shouldn't give one any trouble, either.

Yet we have found that many, many people in addressing communications to Campbell's efficient city manager, put a "v" where the "f" belongs. It comes out Stevens instead of Stephens. Both sound the same, of course.

That's really no problem. Bob is used to it. He answers to both.

On the other hand, we received a big news release recently from Bank of America announcing the groundbreaking ceremony of the bank's 14-story regional headquarters in San Jose.

The covering letter describing the bash came from Richard Stevens, assistant publicity officer in the BofA's San Francisco headquarters.

Then there was the news release itself.

This came from Richard Stephens, also assistant publicity officer of BofA in San Francisco.

We know this is all nitty gritty and stuff like that.

But you really would think that an office would know how to spell the name of the boss who runs it.

They do at the Campbell Press.

Learning to spell ULRICH, for example, is the first prerequisite at our joint for any employee, new or old.

THIS HAS NOTHING TO do with anything in particular but we thought a crack made by Thayer Lyons at a recent Planning Commission was deserving of mention.

As you know, the city is riding the horns of a dilemma with respect to the development of the landlocked six-acre parcel adjacent to the Winchester Drive-in Theater.

The area is zoned for high density apartments. But there is a hang up.

It doesn't open onto a public street.

Syufy Enterprises, owners of the property as well as the Winchester Drive-In, has asked for approval of a 244-apartment complex on the property and a zone change and use permit that would allow the present theater to install a third screen for the drive-in show.

The final decision on the issue has been postponed.

It's too complicated and confusing to explain here.

But you know something, it has been our experience that you don't ever solve problems by hiding one's head in the sand.

Sooner or later the sand gives way.

Or, to get back to the crack Thayer made when it was decided to postpone action on the question of the third screen.

Thayer, who has had more years of experience on the Planning Commission than anyone in town, and who would make an excellent councilman, in our book, said, and we quote:

"This is the first time we have continued a hearing before it was even opened."

Shucks, fellows, you just gotta face it sooner or later.

Who are you kidding?

ply with the conditions.

Before the Council passed the resolution directing the city attorney to take legal action against Becker, unless he complied with the regulations, it was explained to him that the step was necessary because of the city's possible liability and responsibility in the situation.

It was also emphasized that the city could not overlook violations in some instances and crack down in others.

Becker, apparently upset by the Council action, left the meeting in a huff, but he returned a short time later, at which time the city attorney outlined what he had to do to keep operating and added that no court action would be taken, if Becker complied.

Becker said that he would immediately take steps to meet all the conditions, although he felt it was unnecessary to remove the gasoline tank and pump that had been in the area for so many years and which was one of the fire department's conditions.

So the curtain dropped with all parties indicating that they felt the matter could be resolved to the satisfaction of all.

CofC installs on January 23

Campbell's first big social event of the new year, the annual installation of the officers of the Chamber of Commerce, will take place Friday, Jan. 23, at the Villa Felice.

The social hour begins at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:30 p.m. and dancing to follow. The tab for the prime rib dinner is $7.50 per person.

A feature of the evening will be the revealing of two well-kept secrets, the ambassador award going to the leading membership-getter and the citizen-of-the-year award.

Bob Bullard, new president, along with Norm Paul, 1st vice; Al LaPlante, 2nd vice; and Bob Blonder, treasurer, and the 15 directors will be installed. Neal Royer is the outgoing president. District Attorney Louis Bergna will be the installing officer.

Reservations must be made by Jan. 19 at the CofC office.

Launch campaign

A unique campaign for beautification of school grounds and anti-vandalism is scheduled to be launched this Thursday, Jan. 15 at the Rolling Hills School.

Principals and student representatives from each of the 19 schools in the Campbell Union (elementary) District will meet at lunch when Neal Royer, district superintendent, will outline the plans for the campaign.

Council asks exterior control in residential conversion

Campbell's City Council on Monday directed staff to stipulate a proposed amendment to a city ordinance which would allow conversion of residences into offices, that there should be some guideline for exterior improvement in the use permit for the conversion.

The Planning Commission had recommended that the ordinance now banning any type of residential conversion be modified to allow office use.

In another action, the Council awarded the low bidder, Loggers & Contractors Machinery Co., the contract for a portable rotary air compressor. The bid was $4,026.75.

The Council also adopted a new policy for change orders in public works contracts, specifying that improvements totalling over one percent in public buildings or three percent in other public works projects must be first submitted to the Council.

At the recommendation of Councilman Dean Chamberlin it was also specified in the new policy that the Council must also be informed on change orders representing more than 50% of the contingency funds.

The Council turned down the proposal made by Peat, Marwick, Mitchel & Co., that the firm make an analysis of whether an electronic data processing operation was needed by the city. It was estimated that such an analysis would cost approximately $5000.

The Council set Jan. 19 as the date for the study session on the suggestion that the matter of whether the city treasurer position should be changed from elective to appointive. To make the change it will be necessary to submit the proposal to the electorate.

The Council also set Tuesday, Jan. 13 (last night), as a hearing date on the CATV franchise situation. The firm has been granted a franchise already and another firm is seeking to be approved.

On Jan. 19 also the Council is expected to take action on the Classification and Pay Plan for city employees which has been submitted by City Manager Bob Stephens after "negotiating" with the employees.

Four ordinances were given approval by the Council on Monday, three of them zone changes: M. Payne, 681 Hacienda; Lowell Grattan, 540 W. Campbell; R. V. Cloud, 301 E. Hacienda. The other ordinance adopted was an annexation on Whiteoaks.

Continued for two weeks was the proposed ordinance that would modify the city's backyard burning regulations to meet the ban now in effect of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Major building, third screen, face Commission

Two building plans totalling almost $750,000 will be up for approval by the Planning Commission next Monday, Jan. 19.

But the spotlight for the evening will probably be focused on the deferred requests of Syufy Enterprises for a zone change and use permit to allow a third screen for Winchester Drive-In Theater to be installed on property adjacent to the present theater and owned by the theater people.

The Commission at the last meeting approved a 244-unit apartment complex for the property in question but the problem of access to a public street, necessary before a building permit can be issued, has not yet been solved.

Presenting plans for approval next Monday is the K&K Manufacturing Co. at 1500 Dell Ave. Plans call for a 32,400 square foot building at an estimated cost of $200,000.

Up for approval also is an apartment complex at 250 Budd Ave. submitted by Corinthian House, Inc., a project of the Christian Science Church. The unit, estimated to cost about $536,501, is to be built for senior citizens over 62 years of age.

Pedestrian hit in crosswalk

Mrs. Connie Reed suffered a broken knee Thursday evening when she was hit in the pedestrian crossing on Winchester Blvd. by a car driven by Carl Lloyd Harper, Jr.

The accident occurred at 5:50 p.m. in front of St. Lucy's church, and according to witnesses, the green "Walk" light was not on when Mrs. Reed stepped into the crosswalk. Harper was making a lefthand turn onto Winchester from Budd Ave. when the accident occurred. Mrs. Reed was taken to the Los Gatos Community Hospital.

in the previous year.

In 1969, there were 20 permits taken out for pools compared to 12 in 1968 for $38,100.

And there were more demolition permits in 1969 than in 1968, 22 in 1969 for $2300 compared to 13 for $1300 in 1968.

And more remodeling and additions in 1969 also; 111 for $336,870 compared to 110 for $317,088.

The sign situation did a little better than hold its own. In 1969 there were 53 sign permits issued for $50,139 and in 1968 there were 50 for $43,282.

Under "other permits" nine were issued in 1969 for $213,062 compared to 15 in 1968 for $159,986.

Georgia residence planned

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT ADAMS

A home in Georgia is being planned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Adams following their Dec. 27 wedding at the First United Methodist Church.

The new Mrs. Adams is the former Mary Leola Gaddis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm R. Gaddis of 3707 Century Drive.

For her wedding day Mrs. Adams chose a chantilly lace over peau-de-soie gown trimmed with Aled-cod lace and elbow length sleeves. Her silk illusion veil was held with a crown of pearls and she carried a pink and white carnation with her Job's Daughters Bible which had been carried by her mother on her wedding day.

Miss Cheryl Jones of Garden Grove served Mary as her maid of honor with Rochelle Orr and Lynette Colvin preceding the bride as bridesmaids. In the role of junior bridesmaid was Mary's sister, Nancy Gaddis, with Patty Rumsey as flower girl. All of the bridal attendants wore identical gowns of burgundy velvet and pink satin and carried pink carnation bouquets.

Mary is a 1967 Campbell High School graduate and a former member of Job's Daughters, Bethel 174 of Campbell.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Adams of San Luis Obispo and attended schools in that area before going to San Luis Obispo College.

Robert chose Bob Neal as best man. Ushering duties were carried out by Patrick Bodoh, Richard Elliserarris, James Gaddis and Wayne Morrison. Entrusted with the important role of ring bearer was Jimmy Snyder.

For the eventful day the two mothers chose complementing gowns of pink and green, with Mrs. Gaddis wearing a pink crepe and Mrs. Adams a green knit. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

Following the ceremony the 150 guests were greeted by the newly-weds in the church social hall which was decorated with white mums and pink carnations. The four-tiered cake was served with coffee and punch with Miss Madolyn Penland and Mrs. C. L. Clark pouring coffee and Mrs. William McNeeley and Mrs. Earl Wight of Campbell serving the punch. Caring for the guest book was Mrs. David Thompson with Miss Joyce Herrick in charge of the gifts.

The new Mrs. Adams wore a red knit dress with navy blue accessories as the newly-weds left on their honeymoon to Lake Namimiento. The young couple will be making their home in Pacific Grove for a short time while Bob completes his training at Fort Ord before they move to Georgia where he will take a Radio Communications course.

Artists Guild plans critique

A critique for and by members of the Campbell Artists Guild will be held at the general meeting to be held Jan. 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Campbell Country Woman's Club building, First St. and Campbell Ave.

Each member may bring one or two paintings, framed or unframed, finished or unfinished, which will be evaluated by the members and suggestions offered.

A board meeting will be held Wednesday evening, Jan. 14, at the home of Mrs. Beverly Booth, 1378 Olympus Dr. In February Guild members and their spouses are planning a potluck supper to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Greenleaf.

Nominations are now being held for new officers for the coming year.

GARDEN CLUB

Members of the Campbell Garden Club will meet Wednesday, morning, Jan. 14 at 10 a.m. in the Fireside Room of the Congregational Church of Campbell, 400 W. Campbell Ave. Mrs. E. Birr will present a talk on flower arrangements and horticulture.

New spring fabrics topic for CWC meet

Spring fabrics and spring fashions will be the topic of conversation at the Jan. 19 meeting of the Campbell Country Woman's Club. Presenting the newest in materials and ideas will be Norris of Norris Yardage.

The afternoon meeting will also feature music by the Campbell High School students under the direction of William Perkins. Selma Sindran, an exchange student from Holland will present a solo on the recorder. Violin selection will be by Joanne Jacovides with a piano solo by Monica Branchi.

Chairman for the afternoon will be Mrs. Vernon Suess assisted by Mesdames Kathleen Smith, Milton Robertson and Claude Barham

Isabel Circle enjoys 19th birthday dinner

Members of the Isabel Circle, Congregational Church of Campbell, observed their 19th birthday Thursday evening, Jan. 8 with a potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. James Malone, Hedegard Ave.

Many of the founding members were present to recount the first meetings of the group which meets regularly the second Thursday of every month. Membership is open to all church women of the Congregational Church.

Letters were read from former members who have since moved away. A short business meeting followed the dinner hour.

Among those present for the delightful evening were Mesdames Corwin Olds, Harry Gerin, Wyland Morgan, Alfred Acken, Betty Wing, Libby Pederson, Jean Bakken, Norman Scott, Jeannine Knight, Ida Page and Miss Mary Sue Fields.

Campbell teens support March of Dimes drive

Teen-agers will be out in downtown Campbell and in local shopping centers on Saturday, Jan. 17, asking shoppers to support the March of Dimes against birth defects, it was announced today by James Burks, Campbell community chairman for the January fund drive.

The TAP (Teen Age Program) of the March of Dimes is being organized here by Robert Peck, Campbell High principal, who has been named teen adviser.

All funds collected during the March of Dimes are used to support The National Foundation, national voluntary health agency working in the field of birth defects. Because teen-agers are aware theirs is the next generation of parents, they are especially active in fund raising across the country.

A major portion of the March of Dimes funds go into research, designed to determine what causes the various types of birth defects and to develop preventive measures. Other funds go into education and care.

ADVISORY MEET

The Youth Advisory Committee of the City of Campbell meets the second and fourth Thursday of each month at 6:30 p.m. Meetings are held in the Campbell City council chambers, 75 N. Central Ave., and are open to the public. All youth interested in the government of their city are especially invited to attend.

Stock market tour Thursday

A tour of the J. Barth & Co. Stock Exchange will be an exciting preliminary of the Campbell Community Hospital Auxiliary Jan. 15 luncheon-meeting.

Auxiliary members will meet at 10:45 a.m. in the Town and Country Shopping Center and will be taken through the stock exchange facility while they glimpse the buying and selling of the various stocks.

Following the tour the members will enjoy lunch at Blums. For information contact Mrs. Millie Jurras, 296-5619.

FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS---Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sisemore, former Campbell residents, recently observed their golden wedding anniversary in Washington.

Former residents observe 50th anniversary

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sisemore, former Campbell residents from 1942 to 1959, will be happy to learn of the golden anniversary celebration held recently for the couple in their new home in Othello, Washington.

While in Campbell, the Sisemore's resided on First Street.

Attending the reception and buffet dinner from Camp bell were Mr. and Mrs. George Sisemore and their daughter Gail and son Mark. Sending special greetings were Mr. and Mrs. Randy Leech of Campbell, granddaughter of the happy couple.

All of the Sisemore's five sons and their wives were present for the affair as well as 13 of their 19 grandchildren. A beautiful four-tiered wedding cake topped with a golden carriage, all made and decorated by a family friend, Joe Hunt, centered the refreshment table.

Many cards and remembrances were received by the Sisemores from friends and relatives.

NEW DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Murphy are the proud parents of a six pound, 13 ounce daughter, Katherine Marie, who arrived Saturday at the Los Gatos Community Hospital.

Mrs. Murphy is the former Karen Cook of Campbell and has taken a temporary leave of absence from her duties at Blaine's Aero Drug Store on Winchester. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cook of Campbell.

Girl scouts

NEIGHBORHOOD 15

Once again the tinsel and bright, colorful lights have been packed away for another year. It's time to look forward to this new year of 1970. The television programs and leading magazines, however, are looking back to recall the different "happenings" of the 60's.

If someone were to recap all the "happenings" of the Girl Scouts of all ages in the Santa Clara Valley, they might begin to see what the Girl Scouting program is all about. They would see the tremendous growth – approximately 20,000 strong, and the dedicated mothers who take time from their daily routines to be troop leaders.

They might sense the enthusiasm these girls feel towards absolutely everything – helping in the community, learning new skills in the home, arts and out-of-doors. They would understand why the Council and Troop Leaders want to bring the best program possible to these girls of boundless energies and oversized hearts.

Granted, many of the "happenings" done by troops might seem relatively small, such as lifting their voices in song over the recent holidays. The Jr. Scouts of Troop 829, San Tomas School, caroled at Valley Fair and the Forest Hill Juniors, Troop 825, sang to the patients at Los Gatos Community Hospital.

Troop 371, Capri Juniors, gave each patient at the Foothill Convalescent Hospital a small bar of soap hand-wrapped in bright netting and then sang their way through the halls.

Small, maybe, but who can measure the enjoyment or the number of hearts touched by these girls giving time to be thoughtful.

As we move into the '70's, the Girl Scouting future is brighter than ever with new and exciting opportunities for girls – there's always something happening!

IN GOSPEL CONCERT---The Chinese For Christ Hong Kong Blind Choir will present a concert Sunday, Jan. 18 at 7 p.m. at the Saratoga Ave. Baptist Church. The choir members, all of whom are either blind from birth or from childhood, have received eight or more years of musical training and play western instruments and oriental instruments, including the hsiso sen and pi-pa.

Because of the Jan. 1 fire that burned the church auditorium, the concert will be held in a building adjacent to the property, according to Rev. Harry Twining, pastor. Dwight Allen serves as youth pastor and has invited the community to attend the concert.

Teachers to attend art workshop

Teachers in the Moreland School District will be attending a Creative Arts Workshop on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 15, announced Superintendent Richard L. Davis, Monday.

Based upon teacher interest and planned by the district In-Service Planning Committee and Dr. Leonard Herbst, assistant superintendent, art, music and folk dancing will be featured. The art media will be presented in four areas: ceramics; collage; decorative paper murals; puppets, masks and paper-mache.

Early dismissal of children will allow all teachers to attend. Workshop centers are at Country Lane, Anderson and Moreland Schools, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

NEW SON

Christopher Charles was the name chosen for the eight pound, 11 ounce son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clever, who arrived Jan. 7 at Los Gatos-Saratoga Community Hospital. The Clever's are making their home on David Ave.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Courtney York of Wylie Way and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Chet Clever, Kenneth Ave.

Orchid care discussion set

An exciting meeting is in prospect for members of the Blossom Valley Garden Club on Wednesday, Jan. 21. A discussion on the care of orchids will be led by Mrs. William Blue and a demonstration on making burlap flowers will be given by Mrs. Albert Rocco, Sr.

Also on the agenda will be a discussion on rootings and cuttings. The meeting will start at 1 p.m. at the St. Edwards Episcopal Church, corner of Union and Branham.

Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Rose Morris and Mrs. Zeno Hallet. Refreshments will be served during the afternoon. Interested persons may call 377-1210 for further information.

Housing problems? Call the senior action center for help

Members of the West Valley Senior Action Center spent a busy December enjoying several parties, among them a card party held at the Hamilton Mobile Home Park recreation center.

Chairmaning the event were Mrs. Blanche Jordan and Alice Weast assisted by Madeline Hanks, Rebecca Lewis, Lulu Bowker and Kathryn Wilson.

Senior Action Center members also participated in a potluck dinner on Sunday, Dec. 21. Entertainment was planned by Mrs. Blanche Wolfe, assisted by other members of the group. Members of the center delivered candy, canned goods and other food to the Campbell City Fire Department for the baskets distributed by the fire fighters to the underprivileged.

Senior citizens in the community are advised that an information center is now available for anyone who has a housing problem. Joe Gaxiola and Marjory Davis have gathered a fund of information which is available to anyone with a problem.

Meetings are still held every Sunday and are open to all seniors over the age of 50. Card parties, bingo games, art lessons are just a few of the planned recreation activities, as well as sewing bees and other get-togethers.

Further information may be obtained by calling the office at 378-5323. The West Valley Senior Action Center is located in the St. Lawrence Episcopal Church grounds on Rincon Ave.

If a man threatens --- Scream!!!

A man approaches a woman on the street and threatens her life. Does she scream, run or throw him over her shoulder?

If she's taken a course in self-defense she will have learned that her best defense is to scream and run. Recently 40 women at West Valley College completed a course in self-defense for women and all came away with the same feeling - they knew now not to stay still when a man approached them - they were to run.

In 10 weekly sessions, the young women (all under 40 years of age) learned the fundamental concepts and practical techniques of basic self-defense.

Three basic objectives were evident in the course. First the instructors wanted the students to acquire the ability to protect themselves at all times. They also wanted the students to acquire self confidence and to get in good physical condition by completing routine physical exercises.

The course was initiated partially in response to the county's rising violent crime rate and was taught by two San Jose Police sergeants.

Sgt. William Erfurth and Sgt. Robert Bradshaw have been with the police department for nine years and have taught the self-defense class at the San Jose Police Department Academy and at Santa Clara University.

The course outline included learning how to fall, the vulnerable areas of the body, the hip and shoulder throw, the elbow blow and the escape from the wrist hold. But the biggest thing stressed in the course was the need for women to scream and run whenever possible.

The course was so successful this semester, a second course in this area is being considered for the spring. Interested participants should contact the Office of Community Services at 379-1733, ext. 58, for further information.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

As Senator Robert Kennedy lay dying in Los Angeles, President Lyndon Johnson, who had been thrust into the Presidency five years earlier by another violent death in the same family, determined to form a Presidential Study Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence.

Last month this distinguished Commission, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, rendered its report. In most cases the panel, composed of men of all political persuasion and philosophy, was in unanimous agreement. But there was one major difference of opinion. By a vote of 7 to 6 the Commission concluded that civil disobedience could lead to anarchy in the United States. I agree with the majority.

One of the minority, Terence Cardinal Cooke, argued in favor of non-violent civil disobedience "only as a last resort to obtain justice when all other remedies available in our system of representation" have been exhausted. In this context and as in historical events like the Boston Tea Party and the early civil rights movement, the minority argument may be valid provided that, once started, civil disobedience can be stopped at the limits prescribed by the Cardinal.

But what is developing in this country today is a generalized, aimless, across-the-board attack on the very concept of law and order. As the Eisenhower panel said, "The law cannot distinguish between the conscience of saints and sinners." Likewise, the law cannot identify the motivation and morality of those who use civil disobedience in an honest effort to improve our life and those who use it only as a means of destruction.

The majority of young dissenters in this country believe they are acting to reshape this nation to the ideals upon which it was founded. Unfortunately, however, dissent and civil disobedience are often dominated by a minority not so nobly motivated.

Disobedience of law by discontented groups has not contributed to a more liberal and humane society. Today, when it has become almost a way of life, there is more selfishness, hatred and violence between opposing forces than ever before. Common acceptance of civil disobedience has now become part of a civilization where we can send men to the moon while we cower in our homes at night, afraid to walk to the corner drug store without a police escort.

Thomas Paine argued in his "Rights of Man" in 1792 that man has certain rights which outweigh his duties to society. And for his belief he became the prisoner of the violent French Revolution which gave political form to his theories. Today, those who justify the tactic of civil disobedience as opposition to hypocrisy and indifference may likewise be spoiling the chances of developing a better world.

This is not to say that unfair privilege and inequity should be preserved. But it is to say the only legacy we can give to the future is a healthy respect for institutions and laws. Continuing desirable change cannot evolve from dissent and destruction of laws and institutions. As the majority of the Violence Commission agreed, the rule of law is the only guarantor of human liberties, including the right to dissent.

Obituaries

HARRIETT TANNEHILL

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Harriett Tannehill, 30-year resident of the Campbell area, who passed away Jan. 9 at the age of 86.

A native of Missouri, Mrs. Tannehill resided at 4004 Bucknall Rd. She was the widow of the late Henry I. Tannehill and the mother of William R. Tannehill, Roy Tannehill and Mrs. Susie McNabb, all of Campbell, and Mrs. Hanna Detrow and James Tannehill, both of Missouri.

She was also the sister of Jeff and James Terry and Mrs. Bertha Grayhouse, all of Missouri. Other survivors include 21 grandchildren, 43 great-grandchildren and three great-great grandchildren.

Dr. Blaine Bishop of the Calvary Baptist Church officiated at the services which were held at the Campbell Memorial Chapel. Final services were at the Los Gatos Memorial Park.

Drug concerned committee seeks house for use

A committee of concerned citizens, under the title of "Community Action - Drugs" and spearheaded by chairman George Buonocore, has announced plans to open a 24-hour-a-day drop-in center. To be called "Damien House West", the center will provide a haven for people with problems who need a place to think, companionship or guidance.

The committee, a unique mixture of under and over thirties, students, housewives and executives, asks help in locating an older house for this purpose. The Saratoga-West Campbell area is preferred. Please call 253-1414 if you know of such a house.

BRONZE STAR

Sp/4 Robert L. Gammon, Co. B., 2nd Bn., 14th Infantry was recently awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in recent Vietnam action.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gammon, 69 N. Milton Ave., he enlisted in August, 1968 following graduation from Campbell High School. Of the 38 members in his platoon, 28 were killed in the action when Gammon earned the Bronze Star.

MILK PRODUCTION

U.S. milk production in August, estimated at 9.6 billion pounds, was up one-half of one percent, the first time in 25 months that production has been above a corresponding month a year earlier.

Don't Forget to Write

By Mason Sacks

High school civics courses teach that one of the responsibilities of a good citizen is to write his Congressman or Senator periodically to let him know how he feels about the current politicario. In speaking with members of the staffs of various Wahsington legislators, I learned that this responsibility is indeed being fulfilled by thousands of citizens every day.

"We receive nearly 2,000 letters a day," relates the administrative secretary to a prominent New England Senator. "Some of these letters are requests for information; others attempt to influence the Senator's vote on a particular issue. We also receive a great deal of 'case' mail in which constituents request assistance in their dealings with government agencies. In this latter category, many of the letters we receive are from young men who feel they are being mistreated by their draft boards."

"The amount of mail we get varies considerably from day to day," commented the legislative assistant of a California Congressman. "If the House is considering a particularly emotional piece of legislation, we may be swamped with letters. On the other hand, there are dry spells sometimes when we don't receive more than 40 or 50 letters a day. And it's unpredictable, too. You can never tell when a seemingly minor piece of legislation is going to capture the fancy of a large number of constituents."

Once it is received, how is all of this mail handled by the Congressmen?

"Over half of our staff spends most of its time handling mail," stated the administrative assistant of a Senator from the Far West. "We have caseworkers whose sole duty is to help with constituent problems. One girl on our staff specializes on welfare problems; another concentrates on military matters. Several staff members work full time to answer requests for information. We also have people who analyze the mail to get an overall view of how the constituency feels about a particular issue. While the mail is by no means representative of the entire population, it is one of the best sentiment indicators that we have."

What type of letter has the best chance of influencing a legislator?

"When I examine my mail, related a Midwestern Congressman, "I look for quality rather than quantity. When I receive 50 forms letters that people only have to sign and send, I'm not very impressed. But if I receive a handwritten letter that is clear, concise, and well thought out, it's a different story. There have been several occasions during my career that a single perceptive letter has caused me to reevaluate my position on a given issue."

"I enjoy hearing from my people," smiled a Southern Congressman. "I try to personally read as much of the mail as possible. Most of the letters I receive are intelligent and useful. Once in a while someone gets abusive or writes something that is a little perverted, but that is to be expected. I try to see that everyone who writes my office gets some kind of an answer."

"We have form letters for some issues," related the head of the mail room staff of an Eastern Senator. "I'm sure that the Senator would like to answer each letter personally, but there obviously isn't time for him to even sign all of the letters that go out of our office. I suppose that's the price you have to pay if you are a well-known Senator or are from a large state."

West Valley Sports

The West Valley College basketballers are facing the toughest week of their young 1969-70 season. The Vikings are scheduled to meet Camino Norte Conference powers Contra Costa, Wednesday night, and DeAnza, Saturday night, in action at the Campbell High gym.

Contra Costa, the defending conference champs, presently boast a 3-0 CNC standing and are tied with West Valley for the league top spot.

The Vikes will meet the powerful Dons on Saturday, who hold a 2-1 conference marking and will be all out to win.

The Vikes will combat the strong offenses of the Dons and Comets as they boast one of the hottest defenses in the league. Steve Gera, Joe Gallagher, and Doug Oliver spark that defense.

West Valley added their third win of the year last Saturday night with an 81-73 triumph over Canada. The Vikes, after trailing 3-2 minutes after the opening tipoff, led throughout the game. In the first half, West Valley, led by Gera, built a 17 point lead and it stood 41-24 at the halftime buzzer. A 24 point second half performance by Gallagher kept the Viking lead.

Gallagher ended the night as the top scorer with 29 points. Gera, after bagging 14 in the first half, added only two buckets in the second to finish the night with 18 points.

Doug Oliver and Mike Berch, starting guards who played consistent defense all night for Valley, each put through eight as did Rick Menden. Dave Henderson, 6'6½" back-up center for WVC played fine defense as he and Jess Quezada blocked many Canada shots.

Supervisors name Calvo '70 chairman

Victor Calvo is the new chairman of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors, elected last week by his fellow board members.

Calvo, 45, served the City of Mountain View for 11 years as its mayor, a city councilman and planning commissioner prior to becoming a member of the Board of Supervisors a year ago.

He represents the Fifth Supervisorial District, which takes in the North County area and the cities of Palo Alto, Mountain View, Los Altos, Los Altos Hills and Cupertino, plus the westernmost sector of San Jose.

A native of Santa Clara County and lifetime resident, Calvo is a graduate of Stanford University with a degree in political science and was a World War II Army Air Force combat pilot in the European Theater.

He was a Mountain View Councilman for six years prior to his election to the Board of Supervisors and served three times as mayor. Twice he was head of the Countywide Mayors Committee of the Inter-City Council.

He is the owner of DeAnza Lumber Co. in Cupertino.

Supervisor Calvo and his wife, Nellie, and five children live at 1880 Fordham Way in Mountain View.

Campbell Corners

By Cindy Harris

Here is a chance to go to five European countries for only $1,010. Once again this summer the Campbell Union High School District Education Association Administration Division is sponsoring a European summer school for students between 15 and 19 who have earned a minimum B- average in their subjects.

This fantastic summer school will tour you through eight days in London, eight days in Paris, nine days in Neubeuern, eight days in Rome and nine days in Madrid. Departure date is July 15, 1970, from Oakland and the group will return on Aug. 25, 1970.

Classes will be held as in any summer school course and the subjects will include art history and appreciation, music history and appreciation, European literary classics, current events for the boys and European fashions for the girls.

After classes you will go on many free, fun, informative excursions related to current class topics. Lectures precede and evaluation sessions follow each excursion.

The teachers and counselors for this year's tour group will be Mr. and Mrs. Fred Altmann (also last year's counselors) and Mr. and Mrs. Collins. Mr. Altmann is the director of student activities at Campbell and Mrs. Collins teaches business classes at Campbell also. Native teachers will also make up part of the faculty in each country visited.

The tuition fee of only $1,010 includes round-trip transatlantic transportation from the program's point of departure, lodging at selected student accommodations, three meals a day, all entrance fees to sightseeing spots, textbooks and lab fees, insurance, registration fees and other things.

A $100 deposit must be enclosed with each application that can be obtained by seeing your counselor or Mr. Altmann or Mrs. Collins. The balance of the tuition is due prior to March 1, 1970, so start thinking about this once-in-a-lifetime offer and get your application in.

Adult school classes start spring session Feb. 2

One thousand classes are opening for adult enrollment next week, according to Dr. Theo Norby, principal of Campbell division, Metropolitan Adult Education Program.

Actual adult class sessions begin the week of Feb. 2, but full class schedules are currently in the mail to 187,000 households within the high school districts of Campbell Union, San Jose Unified, Milpitas Unified, Santa Clara Unified and Eastside Union.

Campbell High School will have classes Monday through Friday evenings, with courses in math, science, history, sociology, upholstery, clothing, elementary education, algebra, physical fitness, business machines, woodworking and typing, which are expected to attract 800 students.

Westmont, Prospect, Blackford, Del Mar and Camden High Schools are also used for classes, as well as Congregational Church of Campbell, Campbell Country Woman's Club, Good Samaritan Hospital and Westgate Convalescent Home.

Currently, Fred Rausch is counseling students who are seeking high school diplomas at 124 W. Latimer, For an appointment or other information, call 379-8550.

WVC real estate courses expand

San Jose attorney John F. Mallen has been retained by West Valley College to teach a class this spring on the legal aspects of real estate. The course will be part of the extended day program at the college.

Mallen served as deputy district attorney in Santa Clara County in 1963 and 1964.

He is currently in private law practice with the San Jose law firm of Jack, Ruiz, Mallen, Sullivan & Ebright.

In addition to announcing the new appointment, George Miller, coordinator of the college's real estate education program, also announced other courses which will be given this spring.

These include real estate practice, real estate economics, real estate appraisal, tax aspects of real estate, advanced real estate appraisal, property management and principles of real estate.

All of the real estate courses at the college are applicable toward the real estate certificate from the college and may also be applied toward the Associate of Arts degree with a specialization in real estate.

COW INSURANCE

A Wisconsin veterinarian is offering a health insurance policy to dairy farmers for their cows!

Prospect Pulse

by IVALEE INGRAHAM

Panther Varsity basketball team downed Saratoga in a game that was exciting all the way. The final score was 53-52 in favor of Prospect. Senior team member John Jackson won the ball game for the Panthers with a free throw. The score was tied with only seconds left. John went in for a basket, but missed, and the gun signaling the end of the game sounded.

Everyone thought the game would go into overtime, but the referees announced that John had been fouled as he shot the basket. He was awarded two free shots, and made the second one to give the Panthers the close win over the Falcons. Earlier the Panther Frosh-Soph team had gone down to defeat.

Gross Gems is (are?) coming to Prospect! Gross Gems are movies made by students from the Saratoga area. They invaded the Prospect cafetorium last night, and are scheduled for a return performance Thursday, Jan. 15 at 8 p.m.

The program consists of six short movies and stage skits. The movies have names like "Tarzani of the Garbanzo", "Great Chase", and "Utter Confusion". The stage skits star the Notorious Gross Squad. Admission is 75¢ and all students are invited to attend.

Tryouts for Prospect's all-school play will be held Thursday and Friday of this week. The play, "Theive's Carnival", written by Jean Anouilh, is a comedy about a plot formed by three thieves to cheat a wealthy family of money. There are parts for approximately 35 students and everyone is urged to try out.

ICE CREAM

Recent survey by Bureau of Advertising of American Newspaper Publishers Association says the most frequently served dessert is ice cream, followed by canned fruit, and flavored gelatin.

Five cent show is back at WVC

Silent films featuring Charlie Chaplin, Oliver Hardy, Stan Laurel, Buster Keaton and Mack Sennett will have one screening at West Valley College Jan. 15.

The film showing will feature piano accompaniment by Marvin Scott, instructor in the college's music department.

There is no advance ticket sales for the 8 p.m. showing, but a general admission charge of five cents will be asked. The show is scheduled for the Campbell campus auditorium, located on the corner of Winchester Blvd. and Campbell Ave., Campbell.

Westmont Whirl

By Linda Hall

Ross McGowan, everyone's favorite substitute teacher, has been occasionally invited to Westmont to fill in for various absent English teachers. Now, he has invited 40 lucky Warriors to attend his party on the "Ross McGowan Thing".

The 40 participants were chosen at random during a day. Thursday, Mr. Dwyer, the activities director, took the students to the studio to make the taping for the show. The tape will be shown Jan. 17 on Channel 36 at 5 in the afternoon.

Sophomore Donald McGuire has checked out and read, from his freshman year until now, over 200 books from the school library. His reading ranges from Sinclair Lewis to science fiction. As Donald said, "Reading is a lot like a drug; once I start I just can't stop".

Donald's favorite type of reading is science fiction. Asked why he enjoys science fiction, he commented that he finds them an escape valve where he can sit back and let the story flow into his mind! He especially enjoyed the science fiction books: "2001, A Space Odyssey" and "Glory Road".

Donald does not speed through books. He reads about two pages of normal size type in about five minutes, an average time. The only difference between Donald and an average reader is his above average interest.

San Jose State checks frosh for fall term

Acceptance of freshman class applications into San Jose State College for the fall semester was closed last week when the applications figure hit the 3,500 mark, announced John C. Montgomery, SJSC director of admissions and records.

Only 1,800 FTE (full-time equivalent students) will be admitted into the College next fall. The latter figure is the lowest freshman acceptance in two decades at the SJSC campus.

Meanwhile more than 6,000 junior-senior applications have been accepted during the enrollment period. The College has indicated that it will admit more junior college transfers than ever before. The majority of openings and priorities have been reserved for qualified JC transfers.

Montgomery said the applications from junior and senior transfers are still being accepted.

"There are still some Graduate School openings," he added.

The largest first-day enrollment period in SJSC's history was experienced Friday, Jan. 2, when 10,180 students hand-delivered or mailed admission applications for the 1970 fall semester.

To date, the College has received more than 12,000 applications for admission next fall semester.

PROMOTED

Gary F. Petrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Petrey of 1265 Virginia Ave., Campbell, has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Petrey is a photographer at McConnell AFB, Kan. He is assigned to a unit of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat units for air support of U.S. ground forces.

The airman, a 1963 graduate of Campbell High School, received his A.A. degree in 1965 from San Jose City College and his B.A. degree in 1969 at San Jose State College.

Now Dispose Of Backyard Rubbish Without Burning!
Gilson®
SHREDDER-GRINDERS

make low cost natural fertilizer and mulch the easy way

Organic gardening is one of the most economical and productive ways to grow flowers and vegetables. And Gilson Shredder-Grinders make it extra rewarding. Fine shredding action turns clippings, vegetable tops, leaves, and other garden waste into quick-decaying compost or organic matter to till into your soil. Make coarse or fine mulch, too.

These Gilsons have rugged, dependable Briggs & Stratton engines. They're compact, roll easily around your yard. And all models have surprising capacity for their size, plenty of stamina to take hard use.

With the new stricter backyard rubbish burning regulations in effect, why not eliminate this fire hazard in your own backyard by converting your leaves and rubbish into valuable compost for your gardens and flower beds. The Gilson Shredder-Grinder makes quick work of your rubbish pile, no matter how big it is. Best of all, you get natural organic plant food instead of a fire hazard.

CCH medical staff names Dr Thomas new chief

Ernest M. Thomas Jr., M.D. is the new chief of the medical staff of Campbell Community Hospital, succeeding Michael S. Cahn, M.D. to the post for 1970.

Edward L. Cahn, M.D., brother of the past chief of staff, was named chief-of-staff elect, and William Siegel, M.D. is secretary-treasurer of the medical staff at the hospital for the current year.

Dr. Thomas has been in practice in Campbell for the past five years. He is a graduate of Xavier University in New Orleans, La., and Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn. A Campbell resident, he is married and has two sons. He served his internship at San Diego County Hospital and was a captain at the 12th Field Station Hospital, U.S. Army Intelligence in Japan, during his military service.

Dr. Thomas said he will announce formation of medical committees for the 1970 staff very shortly.

A DEATH IN THE SANCHEZ FAMILY, by Oscar Lewis. 301.2972

A Death in the Sanchez Family is a short and poignant account of how the poor die - of the death of Aunt Guadalupe, and of her funeral, to which the members of the Sanchez family come as mourners.

The Children of Sanchez by Professor Lewis has become an anthropological classic, which is read and studied throughout the world. In this book, Lewis revisits the members of the family, now a few years older. The struggle to get Aunt Guadalupe decently into the earth is one of the themes of this book. Professor Lewis' main subject is how her death illuminated her life, and how her life and death reflected the culture of poverty in which she lived.

THE CLAIMS GAME, by Vladimir Chernik. 347.5

Thousands of persons are injured every year through no fault of their own. In this book, a professional claims adjustor tells about the kinds of thinking that go on in the minds of people who make insurance claims, in the minds of the doctors who treat them, the inner workings of insurance detectives who investigate claims, and the strategies of the insurance companies who pay off or refuse to pay anything. Filled with fascinating true case histories, this useful book will be a valuable guide in helping you determine when and how to take your case to court. One thing is certain, after reading this book, you'll never feel the same about insurance companies again.

HIGH-RISE HAWAII, by Bob Krauss. 39 919.6904

It is now a little more than ten years since statehood came to the Hawaiian Islands. During this period there has been enormous change. Urban sprawl is under way, traffic snarls are now ordinary and skyscrapers compete with volcanoes. In this warm evocative portrait of present-day Hawaii Bob Krauss demonstrates how the traditions of old Hawaii can be recognized in their jet age clothes. Here are anecdotes, profiles and firsthand observations that vividly describe what's happening in Hawaii today. Bob Krauss has written a unique book that gives more of the flavor of the islands than the ordinary guidebook.

Tilden Park provides varied activities for the family

If the warm, sunny days of winter are giving you that penned-in feeling at home, why not try a fling in the out-of-doors? It's very easy to do without having to drive three of four hours, says the California State Automobile Association.

In the green hills behind Berkeley is an area to relieve you of any penned-in feelings you may have—Charles Lee Tilden Regional Park. This 2,065 acre park has an excellent 18-hole golf course, a network of hiking and bridle trails, developed areas for picknicking, an artificial lake for swimming, boating and fishing, a lovely white sand beach, a memorable merry-go-round and pony and train rides, tennis and volleyball courts and a botanic garden of native California plants.

Tilden is the oldest and most developed of the East Bay Regional Parks and has within it two of the highest points in the East Bay Hills–Vollmer Peak at the southern tip of the park at 1,930 feet and Wildcat Peak in the northern sector at 1,250 feet. Wildcat Creek flows through the center of Tilden, providing a home for innumerable species of birds and animals.

The hillsides are grass covered, dotted hereand there with chapparal. Groves of native bay, oak and redwood trees are intermingled with eucalyptus in the ravines.

Lake Anza with its white Monterey sand beach and almost ten acres of water, makes a perfect spot for the family to let go. The lush lawns surrounding the beach are great places to sunbathe and picnic. Canoes, paddle boats and yaks can be rented. Lifeguards are on duty. Hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

In the northern corner of the park is an excellent nature area. A complex system of trails leads around Jewel Lake, through wooded canyons and open meadows and up to the top of Wildcat Peak. The trails are fairly short, with well-graded walkways. Black-tailed deer, raccoons, squirrels, rabbits, skunks and opossum roam these 700 acres.

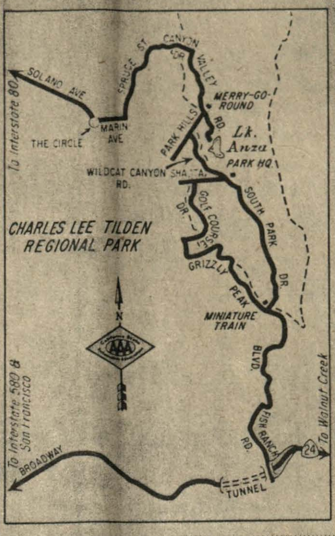
Jewel Lake is the home of various types of ducks with a favorite sight the nesting activity of the red-winged blackbirds. Nests are built in the spring in cattails ringing the lake and at sundown hundreds of these birds pour over the nearby hills to roost for the night.

If you come around dusk to the Jewel Lake meadow, you will be sure to see deer and other animals feeding in the clover meadow built especially to attract animals. Make sure you pick up a trail map and the self-guiding booklet at the naturalist's office.

Perhaps the most memorable feature of Tilden Park, especially for the children, is the merry-go-round that twirls atop a green knoll near the entrance to Anza Lake. Built in 1911, it has bejeweled wooden horses, giraffes, ostriches, lions and dragons that are all hand-carved and hand-painted. A big rococo band organ, complete with drums and bells, is played with ancient paper music rolls.

You could spend some interesting hours browsing through the Botanic Garden of Native California Plants. More than 1,500 species of plants grow here, in a beautifully landscaped and well-tended garden. Seven different growing regions of California are represented: Redwoods, Shasta Cascade, Sierra Meadows, Foothills, Santa Lucia, Sierra Madre-Desert and Channel Islands.

Access to Tilden is via Spruce St., Shasta Rd. and Grizzly Peak Blvd. in Berkeley, and Fish Ranch Rd. from the East.



Girl Scout council offers special forum

As a special service to women of the community, the Santa Clara County Girl Scout Council will offer its second Woman Power Community Forum on three consecutive Tuesdays beginning Jan. 27.

The Forum, planned as a result of overwhelming response to a similar undertaking last year by the Girl Scout Council, will bring ecologists, sociologists and top speakers in various fields to discuss some of the uppermost challenges of the seven ties.

The first session on Jan. 27 will focus on "Mexican-American Culture - A Proud Heritage". It will be followed on Feb. 3 by "Our Ravaged Earth" and on Feb. 10 by "The Challenge of Change".

All sessions will be held free of charge from 9:30 a.m. through 2 p.m. at the Calvary Methodist Church, Naglee and Morse in San Jose.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Al Salciccia

How tough is it to make a pro football team? . . . Did you know that more than 35,000 boys play college football in America each year and of that number fewer than 350 make it to the pros - so of all college football players only about one out of every 100 are able to go into pro football.

Here's an oddity ... From 1960 to 1967 the scoring leaders in the American Football League have all had one thing in common - their first names all begin with "G" - Gene Mingo led the league in scoring in '60 and '62, Gino Capelletti in '61, '63, '64, '65 and '66, and George Blanda in '67!

In 1960, Humble actively began marketing petroleum on the West Coast, with the opening of its first Enco Service Station in Los Angeles. Since then nearly 1,500 stations have been constructed or purchased in California and about 1,000 more in Oregon and Washington. One of a dozen oil companies operating in the Pacific Coast Area, Humble now has greatly increased its share of the gasoline market in recent years. Establishing its own market in this highly competitive area is being made easier with the completion of the new Benicia refinery.

CUB SCOUTS

PACK 377

Hazelwood School's Cub Pack 377 highlighted its December activity with its second annual Pinewood Derby. The event, featuring some 60 seven-inch long model cars carved from pine blocks by the boys and their fathers, is a competition to determine the fastest car on a 32-foot inclined ramp track. Prizes were also awarded for good design and craftsmanship in completing the models.

The fastest car trophy went to Brian Hecker for the second consecutive year. To win the trophy, Hecker's entry had to survive a series of four elimination heats before entering the finals.

Second and third place awards went to Mike Stephens and Danny Sargent, respectively. The close competition was exemplified by the fact that all the cars in the final heat finished within a car length of the winner.

The best design and craftsmanship trophy went to Chris Otten. Second and third place in this category were awarded to Jay Harnden and Jeff Ewing.

Preliminary heats in each of the Pack's eight dens and three Weblos units were conducted to determine the eleven cars entering the finals. Winners of the first three places in each preliminary event were also awarded ribbons for their outstanding entries.

The monthly pack meeting for December was a Christmas party. The cubs formed choirs to entertain their parents with Christmas carols, while the older boys in the Weblos units demonstrated scientific experiments that they had been conducting in order to win their scientist badges.

The climax of the party was the appearance of Santa Claus with candy canes for all the youngsters present.

Survey asks " Are there too many stations in Campbell ?"

By Fran

Are there too many service stations in Campbell?

This is a question that has come up many times in the past, and will probably crop up in the future. To Dale L. Boyle, an Aerospace Manufacturing engineering manager working on his M.B.A. degree at San Jose State College, the question poised a challenge.

Part of his degree requirements was a business research study, and since he had lived in the area for the past 10 years, he had observed many gasoline stations open for business, and quite a few

Dale then spent a number of weeks interviewing all the individual gasoline station managers in the area (and they numbered 41 at the time of his interviewing) and came up with some interesting observations which he shared with The Campbell Press.

One of the more striking things developed by the interviews was the fact that most managers expressed a distinct hatred of the "trading stamps", calling it "legal blackmail", among other things. One Union dealer had spent $1,365 on stamps. When a station makes 32 cents profit on an eight gallon gas sale, the stamp issue or other "gimmicks" can sometimes spell the difference between making a profit or a loss. A mug or glass costing 20 cents to the operator will cut his profit on the sale to 12 cents.

Questioning the owners as to statistics involved in the gas business uncovered some interesting figures: Eleven major oil companies are represented in Campbell. Many managers have been in the same location or in the business for over 10 years with 41% having changed hands within a year and 12% having changed companies.

Campbell stations vary in number of gallons pumped per month from less than 10,000 to 210,000 per month, with 17 averaging between 20,000 to 39,000 per month. A total of 1,316,000 gallons per month is pumped from 221 pumps in Campbell stations, with 22 pumps not reporting their figures, representing a gross total of $7 million at 33 cents per gallon.

What about investment? How much does it take to get into the gas business?

There, too, the figures varied from $1,700 to $25,000 with an average investment of $8,610. A net profit average of $11,900 per year represents a good year for a station, with half of the Campbell stations reporting they make less than $6,000.

Major changes in oil taxation including lowering of tax allowances for depletion of oil reserves should put a further squeeze on local service station operators, thus lowering their net income.

However, the survey went on, 19 operators reported that business was getting better, with businesses located on the east side of Campbell Ave. appearing to do better than those on the west side. Four stations closed while the survey was being made.

One of the conclusions drawn by the survey was that in order to survive, the individual operators should form an association and each agree to stand together in discontinuing the use of games and stamps which eat up profits without substantially increasing business.

Another suggestion was that service stations could no longer survive as solely gas pumping, but should specialize in other services, such as repair, car wash or tire sales.

As to the answer to "Are there too many service stations in Campbell?", Boyle advanced the opinion that the answer would be "yes". With a posted population in Campbell of 24,200 people, averaging 6,000 families with 1½ cars per family using 20 gallons per month, this averages only about half of the 1.5 million gallons currently being pumped in Campbell, needed to satisfy the gas requirement.

Los Gatos, with less population is apparently surviving with only half the number of service stations.

Boyle concluded his paper by again suggesting a return to management control by eliminating "gimmicks" and also pointed out that several stations had noticed an upswing in business after they had turned to and cleaned up the appearance of their places of business. Which conclusion should gladden the hearts of the Campbell Beautification Committee.

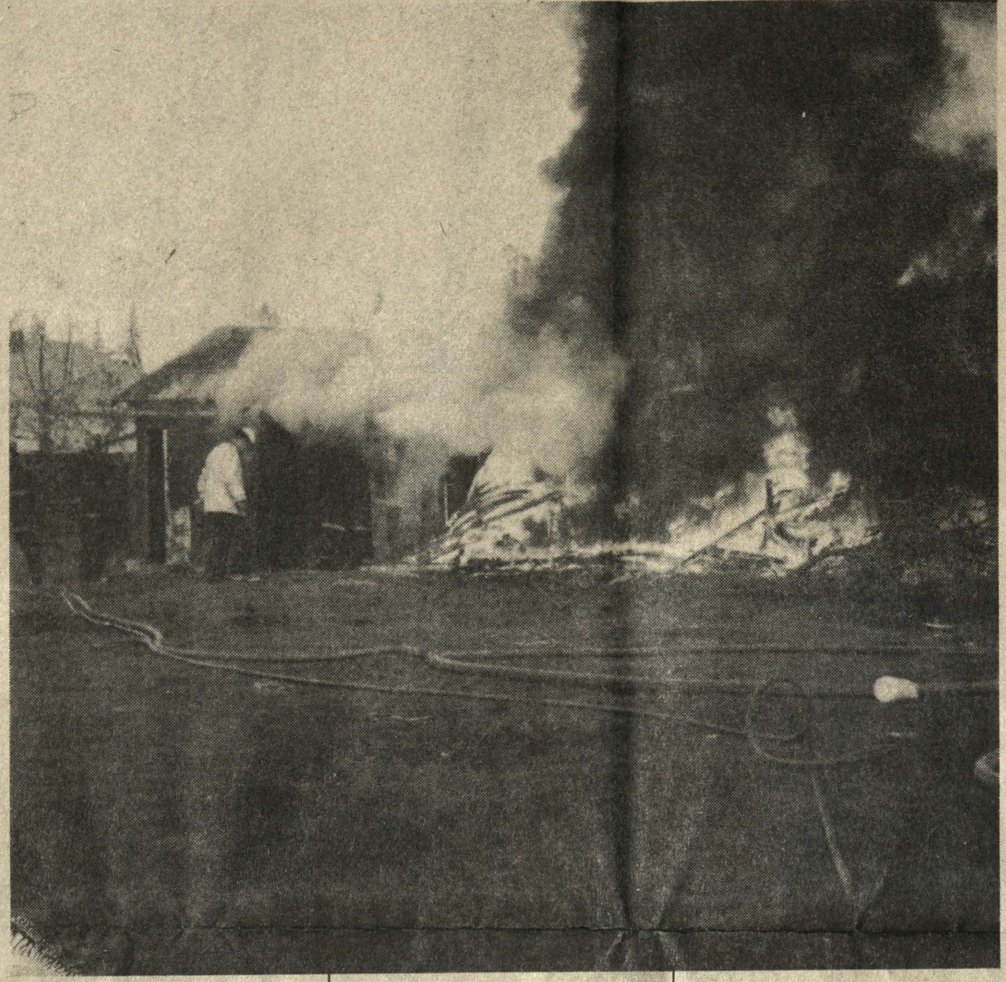
WVC fashion show Jan. 15

All the latest fashion styles will be on display Jan. 15 when the family life science department of West Valley College presents its annual style show.

Models for the evening show will include students from the beginning, basic and intermediate clothing classes. Clothing for the show will be drawn from those classes.

Refreshments will be served by foods classes. Numerous displays will be prepared for showing that evening by child development and interior design classes.

The public is cordially invited to attend the program which begins at 7:30 p.m. on the Saratoga campus.



IT WAS ALL LEGAL---Last week, just five days after the backyard burning ban went into effect by direction of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District in an effort to combat smog, the Campbell Fire Department conducted a control burn for training purposes on Kennedy Ave., near the railroad tracks.

A residence and garage went up in flames causing residents to wonder about the whole bit. Authorization was given the local department by the district to do the burning.

ATTEND CONVENTION

Attending the recent convention of the California Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) in Los Angeles were Miss Lynne Olivieri and Gordon Martin of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District.

The major issue confronting the convention concerned the policy and strategy for obtaining collective bargaining for teachers.

St. Thomas offers Saturday masses

The Rev. Paul Perlite, pastor of St. Thomas of Canterbury Catholic Church, 1522 McCoy Ave. announced recently that in keeping with the recent concessions from the Holy See, Mass will be offered every Saturday at 5:15 p.m.

The Saturday evening mass will be in addition to the regular schedule of Sunday masses.
